ACLU To Review Voter Concerns Regarding Anchorage Election
Fundamental Right to Vote Essential to Democracy

ANCHORAGE, AK, April 4, 2012 — The ACLU of Alaska today announced that it has created an Anchorage Voter Hotline to allow Municipality of Anchorage voters to provide information regarding any issues that may have arisen regarding the April 3 Election.

The ACLU stated: “The fundamental right for every voter to have her or his vote be counted is essential to the democratic process. We are aware that there have been concerns expressed regarding yesterday’s Municipal election. At this point, we are gathering information to determine whether action by the ACLU will be required.”

Voters are encouraged to call (907) 263-2015 to provide any pertinent information.
